

K-Love is an amazing and wonderful ministry. It's the only good radio station on the air and now I've been made aware that it's possibly going to be removed. People have been saved through this radio station's broadcast. Parents don't have to worry about what the DJ's will say when their kids are around while listening to this radio station. In this world where Christians give up so much in order to not offend anyone, this is a harmless yet powerful way to reach people and let them know they are not alone. Please do not take K-LOVE off the air. Why would someone replace such a feel-good, encouraging message such as K-LOVE with some melancholy, worldly one?
